Why give through United Way Monterey County?

United Way Monterey County (UWMC) is a locally governed organization that identifies and addresses the most critical issues and needs of the people within our community. What makes United Way so effective is that it helps our entire community (it is comprehensive giving), your dollars remain in the community (it is local) and payroll deductions make it easy to give!

Why the focus on Financial Stability for families?

We know that regardless of how hard they work, for many families in Monterey County, the cost of housing and child care makes it difficult to get ahead. The lack of affordable, quality child care and housing for working families is affecting the health, safety and educational achievement of our residents. It also limits the productivity of our local businesses. That is why United Way is focusing its resources to find lasting solutions to this complex problem.

Why Child Care and Housing?

For one in three families in Monterey County, these two expenses account for 50% or more of their monthly budget. These families are struggling. It's difficult for them to build assets and get ahead. By focusing on these two tough issues, United Way will help families achieve real, long term stability. And that benefits us all.

One option to help a broad range of people is by giving to the United Way Community Fund. What strategies will UWMC implement to ensure success?

UWMC's success will be measured by lives changed, through quantifiable improvement of community conditions.

How much does it cost to deliver these services?

A vast network of volunteers and the simplicity of payroll deduction keep the administrative expenses low.

UWMC has an overhead expense of 9.3%. This figure includes both administrative (5.99%) and fundraising (3.31%) costs. Although the Better Business Bureau guideline is that up to 35% spent on overhead is acceptable, UWMC employs a far more conservative approach and consistently achieves a much lower expenditure.

What is United Way's Mission?

Our mission is to engage the community and focus resources to improve lives in Monterey County. We work collaboratively with local businesses, government and nonprofits to tackle critical issues in the community. In any community, housing, education, income and health are the building blocks for opportunity – individually and collectively.

- Education is essential to getting and keeping a good job with a wage that can sustain a family and has health benefits.
- An income that can cover today and save for tomorrow builds a family's solid foundation.
- Good health helps children stay on track at school and adults be productive at work.
- Remove any of these building blocks and the other two topple. Build them all up and you have a cornerstone for individual and community prosperity.
